

Long-term Research Visits (Project No.: 2020L-03 )

Project name: A Transnational Study of Community Recoveries from Hurricanes and Typhoons

Principal Investigator: Daan LIANG

Affiliation: The University of Alabama

Name of DPRI collaborative researcher: Kazuyoshi NISHIJIMA, Masamitsu ONISHI

Research period: June 15, 2000 ~ March 31, 2022

Research location: Tuscaloosa, USA; Kyoto, Japan

Number of participants in the collaborative research: 2 (DPRI staff: 2, non-DPRI staff: 0)

- Number of graduate students: 1 (Master students: 0, Doctor students: 1) (Included number)
- Participation role of graduate students [literature review, data collection and analysis]

Implementation status in FY2020

- Delivered an oral presentation titled “Hurricane Effects on Small Businesses: A Case Study of Hurricane Harvey” at DPRI Annual Meeting 2021 on February 22, 2021

Implementation plan in 2021

- Visit DPRI in December 2021
- Prepare household survey for hurricane/typhoon impact in Japan and the U.S.
- Work on the University of Alabama joining Global Alliance of Disaster Research Institutes (GADRI)